Tough times for ladies

From the archive, first published Wednesday 18th March 2009.

WINSFORD Ladies slid further into trouble after losing to a direct rival on Sunday.

Tony Lee's team lost 2 – 0 at home to Bolton Ambassadors and find themselves cut adrift with wooden spoonists Glossop – a side they host at Barton Stadium this coming weekend – at the foot of the North West Women's Regional League Division One South.

They have won only once to date, picking up five points from their opening 11 league games.

Eight have been defeats.

The girls still have at least three games in hand on their rivals, but will need to pick up wins soon to avoid an instant return to the league below.

Kick off on Sunday is 2pm.
